LITERATURE REVIEW : REVIEW OF THE RELEASE OF MEDICAL INFORMATION VISUM ET REPERTUM TO THIRD PARTIES

Nora Arwita¹ Eniyati²

ABSTRACT

Background : Medical records can only be issued based on the authorized hospital authorities, and the confidentiality of their contents is issued based on the consent of the patient concerned, so that they can be held legally responsible. The release of medical information visum et repertum to third parties in the hospital is still often found that the procedure for releasing information is not in accordance with the applicable SOP in the hospital, such as the patient's family does not bring a power of attorney and the results of the post mortem are issued late.

Purpose : Describes a review of the release of medical information visum et repertum to third parties from various journals.

Method : This type of research is a type of literature review research.

Conclusion : Based on a review of the five journals that were studied related to the release of medical information visum et repertum at the hospital, there were still some that did not match or did not refer to the applicable SOPs at the hospital and the inhibiting factors for releasing medical information visum et repertum were man, material and method.
